Introduction

Opened in 1932 Redstone Cemetery is located in Redhill, Surrey. Set on a hillside in 16 acres of colourful well-tended open countryside, it offers magnificent views over Surrey and Sussex from its elevated position.

The ambience of the cemetery is one of tranquillity and natural beauty, with many visitors frequently returning to visit the resting place of their loved one, to tend memorials, leave flowers or simply to feel comforted.

Natural Burial Area

The Natural Burial Area was introduced in 2010 to increase the choice of burial options at Redstone Cemetery. A selection of trees have been planted within the section that will offer year round interest together with a variety of wildflowers that will attract wildlife. Unlike other sections of the cemetery the grass will not be mown during the summer months.

Memorials

In contrast to the other sections of the cemetery there will be no headstones, instead a simple oak plaque will be provided to mark the grave with the name of the deceased. Floral tributes from the funeral will be allowed on the grave however once these have been removed only the wooden plaque and wildflowers will be permitted.

Choice of Burial Plots

It will be possible to have more than one burial in each grave, but as the graves will be used in sequence it will not be possible to purchase them in advance.

Burial Rights

Burial rights to all graves at Redstone Cemetery are sold for a period of 50 years. It is possible to extend the lease period to 100 years.

Coffins & Shrouds

For interment in our Natural Burial Area we encourage and welcome the use of environmentally friendly coffins and natural materials.

Embalming

In line with the Code of Conduct for members of The Association of Natural Burial Grounds we will only accept embalmed bodies for burial in exceptional circumstances such as repatriation. In all other cases no embalming of the body is allowed.

Chapel

The Cemetery Chapel is available to people of all faiths for funeral or memorial services. The chapel seats 75 and is equipped with an organ and music facilities for both CD and tape. There is also pushchair/wheelchair access.
