Developing other already established areas with some low rise flats as well as houses will suit many young and older people who don't have the time, energy or money to maintain or manage anything larger. Existing green belt everywhere should be preserved and treasured as far as possible for future generations to cherish and use wisely for the benefit of the environment and all who live there. Helping to prevent divorce and family breakdown through b education of family and relationship values, morals and the consequences of this could drastically reduce the need for extra homes caused by this tragedy. 	Survey Monkey				RBBC\Representor\0864	N/A	N/A									Climate Change			Don't Know	No	Yes	I consider references to climate change throughout the DMP not to be justified or based on proportionate evidence widely available. Impacts of climate change are widely documented but it is worth repeating that, whilst our geographic location will shelter our borough from the likely worst most pressing impacts, the impacts will nevertheless increasingly arrive on our doorstep and a management plan should address these far more robustly to be a truly sound and justified document for the 21st century. Whilst the DMP does seek to encourage and address sustainable transport, renewable energy provision in new developments (albeit only 10%) and adaptation to flood risk, it does not go far enough to provide robust strategies to mitigate the impacts of climate change. The UK Government has ratified the Paris Agreement and, as such, is legally bound to reach certain reductions in carbon emissions (which it is very likely to miss). The overall goal is a zero carbon economy by around 2050. The DMP's strategies do not provide sufficiently robust evidence to achieve these goals. I understand the DMP runs from 2012 to 2027 but this is exactly the time period when our Borough needs to move robustly towards reducing carbon emissions to meet Paris Agreement targets.	see long entries above which also comprise suggested modifications,	No	Yes	Optional, not sure what this means but if you consider any of my representation as worthy of modification then I'd be happy to attend a meeting to hear the outcome,	No contact details provided
																					Not for us, but for our children and their children. Whilst direct impacts of climate change might be more muted for Mid Latitude sheltered boroughs like Reigate, negative impacts will eventually arrive on our doorstep and it is our responsibility to lead the way in climate change mitigation (not just adaptation) for the benefit of everyone. Not least because we are large CO2 emitters both nationally and globally. Therefore mitigation and adaptation should be leading every policy agenda in the dmp. Reigate is in a unique position to be a shining beacon of a borough in this regard. The current DMP is a missed opportunity for picking up the baton of climate change mitigation and embracing new clean technologies for the benefit of future generations. We (me too) have sat back doing nothing since Rio and Kyoto. It's now time to do something and the Borough plan should reflect this ... otherwise it is morally unsound and empirically unjustified in it's approach to developing the borough sustainably over the next 30 years. One example of unjustified / unsound policy regarding climate change: Flooding/ building resilience to flooding is mentioned extensively in climate adaptation.

	Heat waves are not mentioned at all as a threat but, locally, are likely to be a much higher impact weather event than flooding of the River Mole. Heat related deaths are likely to rise by 257% by 2050 in the UK. The South East is likely to experience the highest temperature extremes in such heatwaves and therefore with an ageing population, we may expect to suffer the biggest heat related deaths. There should therefore be significant mention of the threat of heatwaves in the DMP in policies such as urban design, habitat conservation, house building regulations, tree conservation and health services. An additional area of unjustified / unsound policy lacking the strength to deliver a robust reduction in carbon emissions in our borough is the energy sector mentioned in Policy CCF1. More specific reference to new technologies regarding energy provision in the borough should be referenced e.g. Battery technology in the borough should be brought forward in the objectives and strategy; electric underfloor heating as a better solution than central heating through gas boilers and radiators. A suitable change here might be an insistence on sustainable construction methods and design, not simply encouraging it.
	The same reference to carbon reduction in the provision of proper cycle routes throughout the Borough would complement the sustainable transport network. Currently cycle lane provision in the Borough is hardly usable let alone sustainable. A final example is the poor reference to electric vehicle recharging points. There is one reference to this and only low down in a list. By 2027, the end point of the DMP, there will be an enormous number of electric vehicles in Reigate. The provision of publicly available recharging points should therefore be raised as a matter of great importance in a development plan looking so far ahead. Every new development, industrial and residential and retail, private and public, must address the plentiful provision of electric vehicle recharging points. Reigate could lead the way amongst Boroughs and be so many steps ahead of neighbours in this regard. There are many good policies in the DMP that refer indirectly to carbon emissions such as NHE4 Policy 1 (d) on food growing opportunities. This is a direct climate change mitigation strategy because food miles, especially meat, is a huge carbon emitter.
	This should be re-referenced as a climate change mitigation strategy and made more robust in seeking to broaden the opportunities and possibilities for more people to grow their own food, even if it is in their back garden. I would like to add that a truly visionary development plan would include a vision that incorporates climate change not just as a "thread" running throughout parts of the DMP, but as a leading headline policy in every single section. Reigate should be a leading borough in a (previously) leading nation regarding transition towards a low carbon society but this will take a much more robust and sound plan than the one provided here. I understand that national policy should not be repeated verbatim in a DMP. However, climate change is not just national policy, it is regional and local and hyper-local policy. If we are to reduce emissions then it needs to come down to street and household level policies... from the food we grow to the provision of electric car recharging points in the town.
